South Koreans

that he is "far from defeatism about this business" and "we are here to see it through."

The statement value, they said, was that the South Koreans were not going to let the situation in the North affect their own efforts to win the peace.

Only Eisenhower and a small handful of his confidantes, however, knew how he proposed to go about improving the situation.

But among diplomatic and military sources, none of whom would consent to be quoted directly, several possibilities were raised. These included, for example, the possibility of a "hot" war, or a "cold" war, or a "hot" war, or a "cold" war.

Durkin Has Kind Words for Sen. Taft

By M. D. QUINN

NEW YORK (UP) — Secretary of Labor designate Martin P. Durkin had only kind words for Sen. Robert A. Taft, today, as he came to the city to meet with Eisenhower's headquarters.

Durkin was expected to make his first visit to the White House shortly after arriving from New York, where he has been handling a business matter which he described as "a matter of importance."

Taft, in his first attack on Eisenhower, said that the President had been "inadequate" in his handling of the situation in Korea.

But Durkin declined yesterday to discuss Taft's criticism.
 "Senator Taft's remarks about my appointment are a personal attack on me," Durkin said.
 "I have no comment to make."

He said that he had been

DOROTHY DIX

Off Again, on Again

Here are excerpts from two letters, giving mixed facts on a major problem:

Dear Miss Dix: Last week I broke up with a boy I dated for seven months. There was no reason except that I was in a fighting mood. He made no attempt to come back, which I was hoping he would, so I could explain.
 What does the whole thing add up to?
 Feminine perversity, of course!

Dear Miss Dix: I'm 19 and have a wonderful boy friend in service. We plan to marry either next year or when he gets out. I've met his family and they like me very much. What bothers me is this:
 I get an awful feeling that I won't be able to live with him after he gets out. I don't know why I feel that way. Perhaps you would remedy for it?

Answer: Alas, not but as attending to it, I don't know why it's curable by the help of time.
 Practically everyone has lived through it at one time or another.
 What you lack, Betty, is confidence in the boy. Your constant apprehension that he will fail to keep his word will fail to help him. Stop worrying, and don't let him know that you mistrust him.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and two years have been married for two years. We have one complication, and that is a very nice marriage and my husband doesn't want his mother to know about them. My mother is caring for the youngsters.

Answer: How could you have let yourself be talked into such a deception? Three children are rather difficult to conceal forever.
 At some time you're bound to be forced to acknowledge them. Better do it now, if you should think you'd be much happier to have them with you, and surely they should be with their mother. Breaking the news to your mother-in-law may be difficult, but perhaps she will be more understanding than you think. At any rate, acknowledge your children just as soon as possible.

Suggests Elections Be Combined

CHICAGO, UP—The Council of State Governments today suggested that presidential primaries in the states be held on the same date.

Such primaries now are stretched out, state by state, from March through June.

The council passed along this idea to state lawmakers.
 It would be highly desirable for the states to fix identical dates for presidential primaries, preferably a date within about a month of the national convention.

"This would avoid the present unduly long period of the pre-convention campaign and would encourage all leading candidates to enter the primaries of all states instead of a few."

There are two methods of doing this. Under one, the citizens can express their preference for the major parties.

Under the other, the citizens can elect electors to the convention. This, under one, the citizens

Children to Get Holiday

WASHINGTON, UP—Turkey may be a once-a-year holiday dish for most Americans but the 10 million children benefiting under the government-sponsored school lunch program may get it a dozen times this school season.
